

The Air 1 station is the one station I can turn to and trust that it will be a positive listening experience. If Air 1 were to be replaced another station the community would no longer have the option of selecting a service known and trusted to be safe for families to enjoy. Too much trash talking is congesting the airwaves in America and Air 1 is the one station I have found that values not only the time I spend listening to it, but also values the types of things I wish to hear and fill my mind with. I believe that the public over all is served by Air 1 in that it promotes the health and happiness of families, it connects people to others nationally and directs peoples interest to areas that need support and help. Air 1 is a station that cares about people and that isn't something I can say about any other station.
